If Roy Doak had an idea that he might extend his business to other towns, he would first make a cursory investigation of the many towns which might prove to be fruitful fields. From the many towns, a few towns would merit more minute investigation. He would then proceed to spend some money investigating these few towns, possibly getting options from owners of suitable property. After that he would be ready in a short time to start another store in another town if he decided to expand his business. That, essentially, is what the War Department is doing in the Grenada area.

The fact that Roy Doak came into a town, made some business surveys and secured some options would not necessarily mean that he was going to establish a hardware business in that town. Nor does the presence here of War Department men making various surveys mean that the camp will be established here—but it is a most hopeful omen.

We would suggest that our people proceed with their usual caution about expansion based upon the possibility of a camp being located here. "Too Little, Too Late" has been the cause of major disasters to the Allies; "Too Much, Too Soon" might spell disaster to Grenada people.

If you are late in receiving your paper, and if there are more errors than usual in it, we apologize. Our linotype motor which has put up fifty years of faithful service took the studs Wednesday night. But for substitute rigging furnished by Biddy and Jake Kettle, you would have a sorrier paper than you now look at.

To you few people who still think in terms of a quick war, get ready to lose the war; for if it is a quick war, the allies will be defeated. At this time we are losing the war, distasteful, as that statement sounds. Our tremendous advantage of resources, IF MOBILIZED and UTILIZED soon enough, will win a long war. If dead timber is allowed to stand in the councils of the nation, we may lose even a long war.

We regret to hear that Dr. Cecil Smith will soon leave Grenada to reopen an office in Jackson.

We note from an editorial in the Commercial Appeal that Memphis' Congressman, Cliff Davis, and two Mississippi Congressmen, John Rankin and Will Whittington, opposed the self-pensioning bill. The Commercial Appeal did not mention Messrs. Ford, Colmer, McGehee, Collins, etc. The record shows that Bilbo and Doxey voted for the bill. We note a chorus of "Not Me" from members of Congress. From the huge volume of that chorus, reverbereating to high heaven and making the rafters which hold up the sky tremble, NOBODY in Congress voted "for" the bill. Old Bilbo was man enough to admit that he voted for it, and he sought to defend his vote.

He who talks against the British is unconsciously playing into the hands of the Axis powers who desire nothing more than discord among their opponents. Postpone "hating English" until we get out of the war. England and America are at the present time losing the war; if discord develops we will wind up as the vanquished. We MUST pull together until the long war is won.

Discord, created by German methods, broke the bond between France and England, and ultimately caused France, once a proud nation, to become a puppet of Hitler. A house divided cannot stand. In unity there is strength.

Well, it appears that construction on the addition to the hosiery mill will soon start if a satisfactory contractor can be found. Advertisement for the letting of the contract is now being published.

Hail Hitler—with Shell.

Aint they sweet.

Dear Turner Bailey: Please come to see us soon as possible.

If a camp does come, people should be conservative and not go hog wild, otherwise there will be a lot of broke people left.

Our favorite blonde spent Sunday with her folks in Slate Springs.

Better get those farm implements repaired NOW.

Chester P. Irby, 46, Died Here Last Friday

Chester Pratt Irby, native son of Grenada died in his home in Grenada on Friday, February 13, 1942.

He was born on June 21, 1896 and therefore lacked only a short time of being 46 years of age. He was the son of Mrs. P. S. Irby and the late Mr. P. S. Irby. He joined the Methodist Church when he was 14 years of age. On February 6, 1921 he and Miss Ora Leigh were married. His health has been somewhat frail for many years, but his death came unexpectedly. He was quiet and unassuming in his manner and kept his own counsel about matters that did not concern him.

He was buried Saturday in Odd Fellows cemetery in Grenada. Rev. W. L. Robinson of the Methodist Church was assisted by Rev. E. R. Henderson of the Central Baptist Church in the funeral rites.

Pallbearers were Messrs. Fess Bailey, Braxton and Sam Irby, Eli Whitaker, Hiram West and Vince Marascalco.

Surviving him are his widow and the following children: Technical Sergeant Chester P. Irby of Camp Blanding, Thomas Peyton, Mary Louise, Margie Ann and Jimmie Gordon Irby. Three brothers, Thomas L. and Dillard Irby, of Ponca City, Oklahoma and Peyton S. Irby, of Memphis, and one sister, Mrs. A. C. Kemp, of Calhoun City also survive.

To the bereaved members of the family, we extend our sympathy.

Junior Play at High School Feb. 26th

On February 26 in the High School auditorium at 7:45 the Junior class will igve its annual entertainment. This year we have three interesting selections: first, a play called "Seeing is Believing," this is some of its plot. It cramps your style and your toes when you have to wear a pair of shoes two sizes too small at the swellest dance of the year especially with The Perfect Man in the background.

Second, The Grenada High School Orchestra.

Third, The Quiz Kids. We know you will all enjoy their new, but somewhat familiar answers. Also to see who they are. It will be a surprise!

Escaped Parchmanites Safely In Jail Here

Rass Hardy, Fletcher Sims, Cordell McPeak,, Cliff Arnold, Ralph Chapman, and Freeman Goodman are in the local jail after having had brief liberty extending from Wednesday afternoon until Thursday morning from the State Penitentiary at Parchman where they were patients in the camp hospital and from which they escaped in a state-owned truck.

Officers of the local force, Burns Tatum of the Highway Patrol, Trusties from Parchman and other officers in the area were responsible for the arrest of the first five named men, while the latter named one, Freeman Goodman, voluntarily surrendered.

Announcement

The World Day of Prayer, observed each year by all churches of the city, on the first Friday in Lent, will be held at the Methodist Church this Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The W. S. of C. S. membership have charge of the program.

This splendid service was held in the First Baptist Church last year, and it is hoped that the attendance this year will be as great or even greater than last year.

Little Ilene Pryor

The many friends in Grenada, of little Ilene Pryor, of Tillatoba, will be grieved to learn of her death at Grenada Hospital this past week.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The O. E. S. will hold its stated meeting at the Masonic Temple on Tuesday evening at seven thirty, February 24, 1942. All visiting O. E. S. members are cordially invited to attend. A full local attendance is urged.

Mrs. Pauline Griffis, W. M.
Mrs. Gertrude Keeton, Secy.

J. D. Blakeley has got a discharge from the GOW borrowers and has enlisted in the GOW subscribers. Welcome, Brother Blakeley. His old daddy, the late Confederate "Reb", always took the GOW.

Grenada Men And Women Finish Advanced RC Course

After attending classes, lasting three hours each, for five days a week for two weeks seven Grenada white ladies, three white men and three colored women finished the intensive First Aid courses provided by the Red Cross for advanced students at Winona last week, and are now ready to teach other classes, both of white and colored people, in First Aid.

Mesdames E. L. Wilkins, Frank T. Gerard, and D. G. Ross, Misses Mary Ella Collins, Ouida Ellzey and Mary Hayes and Messrs. William Wright, Art Quantrell and Douglas Nelson are the white graduates. Carrie Hoover, Margaret Raiford and Delma Lawrence are the colored graduates.

Several classes are now in operation for the white people, each class in charge of one of the graduates.

A mass meeting of the colored people is scheduled for Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at the colored school for the purpose of enrolling the colored peple in classes to be taught by the colored graduates.

Library Aids The War Program

Grenada County Library is in receipt of a letter and material from the Executive Office of the President U. S. Information Service. A self-explanatory excerpt from the letter is quoted below:

"Your library is one of 1200 which has been chosen by the American Library Association for a demonstration of War Information Centers. In accordance with their request, we are sending you, under separate cover, material which has been assembled with a view of presenting to interested readers facts relating to the government's war program. It is our plan to assemble each month a new collection of material deoted to a selected phase of national defense. The collection for March will feature "Nutrition". We should like to have suggestions as to the subjects which might best serve your communities".

New books on the war and related subjects, as well as the new fiction, are being bought each week.

Pleasure-Loving People Dishonoring God's Day

The following quotation, widely published in Church papers, is from a sermon by a rector in Bournemouth, England.

"We have been a pleasure-loving people, dishonoring God's day. We have preferred motor travel to church going. Now there is a shortage of motor fuel. Now the beaches are barred.

"We have ignored the ringing of church bells calling us to worship—Now the bells cannot ring except to warn of invasion.

"We have left the churches half empty when they should have been filled with worshippers—Now they are in ruins.

"We would not listen to the way of peace—Now we are forced to listen to the way of war.

The money that we would not give to the Lord's work—Now is taken from us in taxes and higher prices.

"The food for which we forgot to say thanks—Now is unobtainable.

"The service we refused to give to God—Now is conscripted for the country.

"Lives we refused to live under God's control—Now are under the Nation's control.

"Nights we would not spend in 'watching unto prayer' — Now are spent in anxious air raid precautions."

And America is equally guilty in these things. May God turn the hearts of His people that He may deliver us from the consequences.—The Church News.

Gus Gerard, Grenada Youth, Placed In Hall of Fame

Gus Gerard of Grenada was named Friday as the first member of the 1942 Hall of Fame at the University of Mississippi.

The first of a group of six students to be presented alphabetically by The Mississippian, student weekly newspaper, Gerard was closer for this campus honor by a secret committee using written ballots through the office of the dean of men.

Gerard, recently called to active duty as a second lieutenant in the infantry, U. S. Army Reserve, was president of the Associated Student Body at Ole Miss this session. Last year he was treasurer of the ASH and was selected membership in Omigron Delta Kappa, national honorary leadership fraternity. As treasurer of the student body he was chosen last year to appear in the publication, Who's Who Among Students in America Universities and Colleges.

Gus is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Gerard of Grenada.

SALVAGE TIN

We have been informed that all drug stores have boxes for the collection of collapsible metal tubes used for shaving cream, etc.

These coutainers are made of almost pure tin, a most vital war material.

Mrs. D. A. Tabb Passes At Eupora

Grenada friends of Dr. W. G. Tabb, of Greenwood, extend their sympathy to him in the loss of his mother, Mrs. D. A. Tabb, who died at her home in Eupora on Friday, February 13. Dr. Tabb and his splendid family resided at Leflore, Grenada county several years ago and they have many friends, especially in beat five who will learn of Mrs. Tabb's death with deep regret.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Civic League members are sponsoring the collecting of tin foil, and boxes for depositing your collection of tin foil will be placed in the Grenada Drug Store and in Dyre-Kent Drug Store and at the office of Grenada County Weekly. Please save this necessary war defense material and put it in one of these boxes.

Mrs. Chas. C. Penn.

W. M. U. ANNOUNCEMENT

Circles of the W. M.U. will meet Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the following homes: No. 1 with Mrs. Haifa; No. 2 with Mrs. Duboise; No. 3 with Mrs. Stoker; No. 4 with Mrs. Dyre and No. 5 with Mrs. Quinn.

It is going to be hard sledding for the dudes who voted in Congress for self-pensions It's going to require more explaining than any one other vote. Yet, to tell the truth, those dudes have got by with worse murder than that and escaped public notice altogether.

PRE-PLANNING UNITS BEING SET UP IN GRENADA FOR POSSIBLE ARMY CAMP

That the Grenada area is a very "live" prospect for the location of a large army camp is demonstrated by the fact that the land acquisition unit of the Pre-planning organization has already been set up in Grenada and the setting up of an engineering unit of the Chas. T. Mays Company is only awaiting the signing of the contract, which signing is expected momentarily.

In the court room of the county court house there is already a force of engineers, lawyers and appraisers at work. Mr. W. D. Burleston, working as a civilian employee of the War Department is in general charge there. Mr. Earle Lester is the chief engineer and has Messrs. Earle Tritt and Robert S. Hickey as his assistants. This group has already received and installed a full completement of the latest style drawing boards and drafting equipment. Mr. J. D. Hazue is the chief appraiser and other appraisers borrowed from the Fedeal Land Bank are expected daily. Two local lawyers, Messrs. Perry and Lomax, and three other lawyers, Messrs. Robert Wells, of Jackson, "Vap" Adams of Oxford, and Walter Davis, of Winona, are working on the legal phases of the survey. Two local girls, Miss Juanita Smith and Mrs. "Rick" Gilliam, and Miss Margaret Lowery, of Milan, Tennessee, constitute the present stenographic force. Mr. J. B. Horn is the contact man. This office is known as the Realestate Acquisition Planning Office. Within a very short time the force will be augmented with additional workers to bring the total to about twenty-five.

The signing of the contract between the War Department and the engineering firm of Chas. T. Mays Company of Boston, the firm that drew the plans for the Flora, (Miss.) shell loading plant, as stated, is expected momentarialy. When signed, this firm will bring into the community about 200 engineers, draftsmen and office workers. If Grenada can provide housing for this group, all will stay here. If not, it is likely that the drafting department will secure headquarters in Jackson. Tentative agreements have been made with Mr. Wagner, owner of Glenwild, for the occupancy of the administration building there, and with the American Legion for use of some or all of the space in its hut.

The presence here of majors, colonels and generals, and the "grape vine" telegraph, together with the fact that the government is spending a huge sum of money here, are certainly evidences that a major development for this area is brewing.

Rumors are that the camp will embrace anywhere from 35,000 to 75,000 acres of land, most of which will be east of the I. C. Railroad, and will be about equally divided between Grenada and Montgomery counties. It is believed that the main camp will be very close to the railroad and probably between Elliott and Duck Hill as the terrain there is almost flat, yet well drained. One rumor is that the camp hospital will be of such size that there will be 5 miles of corridors inside the structure. If built a great army of workers will have to be imported for camp construction.

When its task is finished, the preplanning unit will be in possession of the description, owner's name and liberal valuation of each and every parcel of land in the proposed area. If the War Department decides to locate a camp in this area, each individual landowner will be approached with an offer to buy at the usual liberal figures of the government. If he accepts, well and good; if not, there is a newly-passed law which permits the exercise of eminent domain almost immediately. The government will take the property and argue later.

At a citizens meeting called by the Chamber of Commerce at the Berwin Hotel Monday night, Mr. E. L. Morrow, the manager of this body, explained what he and his organization had been doing to facilitate the work of the army men. Mr. Morrow (who, by the way, is doing a good job in the writer's opinion), warned against undue optimism and was most plain in his statement that there was in that time nothing positive about the location of the camp here. He warned too that, should the camp come, Grenada should not lose its Bloomin' and be submerged by the camp. If we interpreted the meaning of this warning, he warned that our attitude should be "the camp is near Grenada", not that "Grenada is near the camp".

As for the city-county owned airport located on 200 odd acres of land secured from Will Hayward near Haserwayood, No. 7 Highway north of Grenada, Mr. Morrow reported that the grubbing and grading was about 40 percent finished as of Monday. The rain and unfavorable weather conditions of this week have of necessity retarded earthwork. Mr. Luther Harris of Holcomb is superintending the job. There are very substantial reasons to believe that if Grenada goes to the Air Corps and says, "Boys, we NOW have an airport," the Air Corps will immediately complete the field and establish a civilian training center here.

The above is a summary of the situation here today. Necessarily, there is nothing definite. The government decides to ACT, then quickly ACTS as it should in these fast-moving times.

Wm. Winter Named Managing Editor The Mississippian

William Winter of Grenada has been elected managing editor of The Mississippian, student weekly newspaper at the University of Mississippi in the annual campus-wide publications election held last week.

Winter, running against Harold Brownstein of Greenville, won the position by a margin of 428 votes to 281. He will take over the duties of his office at the beginning of the 1942-43 school session next September, succeeding Albert Wilson, the present managing editor and newly elected editor.

Serving as associate sports editor on the Ripper for this session, Winter served on the sports staff last year also. For the first semester of this session he was circulation manager of the Rebel, campus humor magazine. He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary scholastic fraternity, the International Relations Club, Hermacan Literary Society, and the Ole Miss debating squad.

He was chosen as one of the Outstanding Freshmen for 1941 by the Cardinal Club, campus service organization. This year he is secretary of his Y. M. C. A. group and is serving as chairman of the publicity subcommittee of the Committee of 100, sponsor of the annual Religious Emphasis Week now in progress at Ole Miss. Winter's social affiliations are with Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Unified Command

If the disaster, the extent if which the American people have not yet had the privilege to know, taught anything, it taught us that we should have a unified commander of ALL of the armed forces. Theoretically the President is supreme commander of all armed forces, but he has not the time or training actually to perform that important task.

The disaster at Pearl Harbor, in our opinion, came about through the disinclination of the army commander and the naval commander to collaborate and to cooperate. There is an instinctive hatred between the navy men and the army men. Of their own volition, the army and the navy never has and never will cooperate to the extent that the present circumstances warrant.

President Roosevelt should appoint the most able military man in the United States—whether he is an army man, a navy man or a marine man does not matter—and give him full and complete authority over our entire combat establishment. Give this man complete authority to eliminate all deadwood whenever and wherever found. Give him also complete authority over the movement of every merchant vessel that the government owns and controls.

Let President Roosevelt who, after all is responsible for the salvation of this country, be ruthless in eliminating all inefficient men and women from his cabinet. Let him appoint the VERY BEST men, whether these men are Democrats, Republicans or what not.

The time for the abandonment of piddling, pussyfooting and pampering political pets, is alas, too long overdue.

The Red Cross Serves

Another way the American Red Cross serves is as contact agent between the soldier in camp and his people back home.

Here, briefly, is the procedure in case the presence of the soldier back home is needed on account of the death or serious illness of a member of the family: the secretary (or chairman) of the local Chapter of the Red will be contacted, given the full name and address of the soldier, and given the reason why the soldier's presence is needed at home. The local Red Cross will make such investigation as is deemed necessary to verify the urgency of the case. If the seriousness of the case warrants such action, the local Red Cross will telegraph the information to the Red Cross at the camp, after which the soldier is likely to get a furlough.

An individual is wasting precious time and money sending a telegram signed by himself. Use the Red Cross.

Dams Will Wait

The following excerpt is taken from the last issue of the North Mississippi Herald, and bears out our repeated contention that the Grenada dam will not be built until after the war:

Local representatives of a citizens committee of Water Valley were assured in Washington last week that there was little likelihood of the start of construction on the Yocona or Yalobusha river dams and reservoirs before the war is over.

Jack Dale and E. R. Walton spent four days in Washington conferring with the Mississippi Senators and Congressman Jamie L. Whitten, and with Colonel Reber, chief of the U. S. Corps of Army engineers.

The representatives were told by Colonel Reber that the urgency of the war effort, and the scarcity of construction materials, in all probability would delay any start of construction on the Enid dam until after the war, and in the case of the Yalobusha dam north of Grenada ,he said there was no possibility that this dam would be started before the close of the war.

Colonel Reber said that no funds are available at this time for construction of either dam, even if the materials could be obtained. He asserted that allocations have been made for construction of the dam, if and when funds are available. However, he added, no funds could be available until the appropriation for the 1943 fisca; year is made and this appropriation has not yet been acted upon by the house appropriations committee.

It was pointed out that neither of the two dams are considered of prime importance to defense.

Vegetable Gardens

People are supposed to do what editors and preachers advise them to do, not do what the editors and the preachers themselves do.

With the above in mind, we earnestly advise the people to raise bigger and better vegetable gardens this year than ever before. With food prices soaring and with many foods likely to get scarce, many families with less than one-quarter of an acre can raise enough stuff to make them almost independent of outside sources.

The least cost of raising a garden, yet the most important phase of gardening, is the cost of the seed. It takes just as much work to care for a garden planted with sorry seed as it does to care for a garden planted with good seed.

Therefore, see that you obtain good seed, and the best way to get good seed is to get seed from a reliable dealer.

Unless more efficient men are placed in charge of our vital efforts, we are going to lose this war. So far, inefficiency to a great degree has characterized the actions of most of these men.

It CAN happen here.

Burning Woods To Kill Boll Weevils An Expensive Practice

(By F. F. Bondy and C. F. Rainwater, Federal Entomologists at the Pee Dee Experiment Station)

The burning of woods to kill boll weevils is one of the most expensive and least effective methods that a farmer can use. Boll weevils hibernate in many places where they cannot be killed by burning. Large numbers of weevils pass the winter in Spanish moss hanging high in trees surrounding cotton fields. More than 2,000 boll weevils per ton of moss have often been found. Clumps of grass and weeds along ditch banks, field roads, and at the end of rows afford ideal hiberating quarters. Many boll weevils hiberate in hay stacks and around barns, gins, out-houses, etc. Weevils also hibernate in surface woods trash, but the records show that more than three-fourths do so within the first 50 feet of the edges of woods bordering cotton fields. Practically none are found at distances greater than 150 feet from the edges of the woods. These facts point to the absurdity of burning large areas of woods and destroying valuable timber in the belief that a large number of weevils will be killed. In this case the remedy is worse than the disease. Burning woods damages the timber and kills the undergrowth and seedlings It is also bad for the wild life and may lead to soil erosion. Woods fires often get out of control and larger areas are burned than intended; and then too, burning the woods does not get rid of the weevils. There are always enough left that cannot be killed by burning to start an infestation next spring, and if weather conditions during June and July are favorable for weevil development these will always increase so that it will be necessary to dust with calcium arsenate anyway. It is wiser to encourage the growth of young timber and to systematically cut and sell this in order to purchase dusting machines and calcium arsenate than to destroy the timber by burning. The most important thing a farmer can do in the fall is to cut his cotton stalks as early as possible before frost so as to reduce the number of boll weevils that go into hibernation and survive the winter. The early fall destruction of the cotton stalks is more effective as a boll weevil control measure than the dangerous practice of burning woods.

Don't Overlook The Backlog

We would be most happy to see an air base here, and an army camp and a shell-loading plant, or even a gas mask factory. In our humble way, we have tried to use such little influence we have to get such things located in Grenada.

Whatever we get in the above category - if we get anything - will be of temporary nature. It or they will vanish when peace is finally declared.

In our eagerness to get new enterprises here, we MUST not overlook our ace in the hole, our backlog - which is the legitimate trade territory of Grenada. We must not forget Oxberry people, Pearidge people, the folks of Mt. Nebo, our friends and customers at Sweatman and Big Creek and Duck Hill, nor must we lessen our efforts to retain the trade of the people of "Little Texas" and the "free state".

Grenada grew to be a town of considerable importance back in the 1830's and 1840's through its geogarphical location and through its being able to serve the people mentioned above. To a large extent it continued to fatten upon that trade, though in the past ten years its growth has been accelerated by the establishment of industrial enterprises here.

Then, too, Grenada has its home market. The people of Grenada itself have spent untold thousands of dollars in Memphis, Greenwood, and Jackson. These people here at home should not be overlooked, particularly at this time when, with the scarcity of rubber, it is not feasible for them to go by automobile to distant places to shop.

Do not forget the backlog. Keep the "ace in the hole" intact.

UNDER THE MAGNOLIA TREE

By Herbert B. Allen

At the moment of writing all eyes are turned toward the steaming equatorial lands of the East Indies. So for the sake of variety let's leave the land of sahongs, nutmegs and bad news, and move up to the regions bordering the Bering Sea and look around among the icebergs and seal fisheries. For a while our own bad news at this time is coming from the jungles. the Japanese know that some very bad news is at this instant being cooked up for them, in the Arctic wastes to their north.

Bordering the Bering Sea are Alaska and Siberia. This is the back door route to Japan's great industrial cities. When we think of Alaska and Siberia, it is customary to picture Eskimoes in their ice houses, and Russians garbed in furs so that only the white of their eyes may be seen. Is this the true picture? Not quite.

Where the Alaska Peninsula puts out from the mainland, like a bayonet, to separate the Bering Sea from the Pacific Ocean, it continues out into the sea in the form of a long string of islands named the Aleutians. And on the Aleutian islands are now located American military and naval flying bases where feverish operations have been going on for some time, none of which are calculated to improve Japan's health and disposition.

Far from being in Santa Claus' back yard, the Aleutian Islands, and our air bases located there, are no farther north than London, England. In fact they are in exactly the same latitude as beautiful Banff, and Lake Louise, in the Canadian Rockies where some of you may have vacationed at some time. And the great military base at Vladivostock, Siberia, is no farther north than I happen to be tonight, right here in Chicago.

As Alaska is our own territory, we naturally control all of the military and naval operations taking place there. But Siberia is Russian territory, and operations from Siberia must be made with the aid and cooperation of the Russians. The Alaskan bases are long distances from the populous Japanese cities; but Southern Siberia is but two hours flying time from Japan's vital centers of industrial production, and equally important, her great naval bases.

America is at war with Japan. Russia and Japan are nominally at peace, although actually the yhave been fighting guerilla warfare in Manchukuo, Mongolia and Eastern Siberia for many years. So what are our prospects of using Russian air bases to make the destructive attacks upon Japan that we expect to make?

Russia is engaged in a life and death struggle with Germany. In fact, for the past eight months, the war shifted from a preponderantly British-German affair, to a Russian-German struggle. Can, or rather, will Russia become involved in an American-Japanese war in order to make possible a really paralyzing blow by American air power against the Japanese. As you know there is a recently signed non-agression pact existing between Russia and Japan.

This pact is worth less than the present market value of the Confederate dollar, and has less power than the Swiss Navy. In view of the value which both Russia and Japan attach to this treaty, the roots of which are grounded in Japanese fraud and larceny, we may dismiss this non-aggression treaty as being worth considerably less than cigarette coupons.

The fact of the matter is that Japan is a deadly enemy of the Russian nation; and Japanese aspirations certainly include the inclusion of Siberia in the Japanese Empire. Japan is so close to the battle field involved; and the populous, industrial regions of Russia so far from this isolated Siberian region, that I am positive that the Russians will seize the first opportunity to leap on the Japanese, now that the Japanese are involved with the ABCD powers.

There are more logical reasons for a Russo-Japanese war than exist for a Japanese--American war. From Japan's standpoint, the presence of a powerful Russian seaport and air base with its index finger pointed right at the heart of the Japanese empire, is an impossible menace to permit to exist for any longer than is absolutely necessary.

In recent years there has arisen another very important reason why Japan should desire to conquor the Siberian provinces of Russia. Very little is ever written on the subject, but during the past ten years there have been stupendous discoveries of gold in the vast wilderness of Eastern Siberia. The production of these gold fields is a military secret and their value is not disclosed by the Soviets.

But I have seen obscure little notes in the bulletins of our Federal Reserve System which estimate that the present production of gold in Siberia is second only to the combined production of gold fields of the entire British Empire, which are the world's richtest deposits.

So if Siberia has a present production of gold which is almost equal to the output of the great fields in South Africa, Australia and Canada (and new Siberia fields are being continually discovered) you may be certain that the avaricous Japanese are eyeing this new Eldorado with their mouths watering.

With the great reconstruction and development program which Russia will undertake after the war, this gold will be very urgently needed for the purchase of vast supplies in the United States. Naturally the Russians have this fact very much in mind when they consider their relations with Japan.

Based upon these facts it is only reasonable to predict that at the proper moment the Russians will cooperate to the limit with any American efforts to destroy Japan's power by direct air attacks on the Japanese homeland. To destroy Japan's military power is even more vital to Russia than it is to the United States.

Therefore, in the near future, you are likely to hear a great deal on this subject of Russia. Arrangements with the Soviets are so important to us that the job should be intrusted to an American of great ability in the field of practical affairs, and one possessing national prestige in this country.

My radio has just announced that appointment of Admiral Standley, a retired naval officer, to be ambassador to Russia. Admiral Standley was once chief of naval operations, but irrespective of his aptitude and ability, it was a mistake of the first magnitude for President Roosevelt to naminate a man unknown both in the United States and in Russia.

At this critical stage in world affairs, and with our relations with Russia in a bad way, due to years of false reporting of Russian news in the American press, this is the time to strike an entirely new note in our relations with Russia.

We have a few men of demonstrated ability, wide experience in human affairs, and the capacity and tenacity to get big things done. Such a man is Wendell Willkie, the brilliant Wall Street lawyer, utility magnate—and of late years—public spirited, liberal American citizen. Nothing that the President coud have done to aid our military and diplomatic position in the world would have been more potent in furthering our interests than to have appointed Wendall Willkie as Ambassador and Envoy Extraordinary to Moscow.

Rússia is due to displace Germany as the most powerful nation on the European mainland when the war terminates. Russia sought to associate her power with the democracies before the war broke out, but her overtures were repulsed. Russian efforts to destroy Hitler are at present the most effective of all of Hitler's enemies. President Roosevelt should aid our army and navy according the recognition to Russia which her new position in the world entitles her.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This article, intended for publication last week, was written before the fall of Singapore. Since it was written, we have noted numerous references in the press to the Alaskan situation. This bears out our contention that Mr. Allen anticipates events before many of the columnists and commentators, more famous but less informed, anticiates them. The readers may recall that Mr. Allen wrote an article suggesting that General MacArthur be made C. in C. seceral weeks before Mr. Wendall Willkie made the headlines with the same suggestion.

Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

The public sighed a sigh of profound relief when it found out that Mrs. Roosevelt had got out of the Civil Defense organization. This organization should be ruled by experts, not by amatures, however, patriotic and well meaning. Now if Mrs. R. will go back to darning FDR's socks, sewing buttons on his BVD's and acting as gracious hostess at the President's home, everything will be much better.

Our overseer, George Oversea Terrell, was up much earlier than usual Monday morning.

We wish to commend Willard Odom, our elected marshal, for his determination to go to Hattiesburg and perhaps other places which have huge concentrations of soldiers, and find out how law enforcement is carried on in these unusual conditions. This is in anticipation of the possibility that Grenada will have an army camp. We hope the city will reimburse Mr. Odom for every nickel of expense he incurs in such trips,

Let's can Japan,

We just found out that John Vickery, our soldier subscriber at Dove Field, was a nephew of the Jacks boys, If we would lose all of the Jacks, Haywards, and Hortons and their connections and in-laws, we would have to cut out list at one-third,

Dear Willie Martin: you will note that we finally got around to changing your expiration date on your paper,

Speaking of changing dates, Horn was busy nearly all day Sunday revising our mailing list, which had not been revised since Christmas. We added 60 new subscribers and "marked up" about 100 This would not be impressive for the CA, the Tupelo Journal or the Chicago Tribune, but it's pretty good for a small weekly.

Winston Churchill was heard over the radio Sunday. I had rather hear hm talk than hear any other person (except the old lady) on earth. He tells the blunt truth, and does not seek to conceal any bad news from his people. We are inclined to believe that Americans have never officially heard the whole truth about the Pearl Harbor incident. Can't we "take it?" Are we getting so soft that our bad news has to be sugar-coated? Let's have the truth, bad or good.

Nothing pleases the Axis power more than dissention between America and England. We MUST stick together; we MUST refrain from speaking lightly of our ally who carried the ball alone for over a year.

There is now a public clamor for the elevation of General MacArthur to the post of Commandng General of the American armies. It is rather significant that Herbert B. Allen suggested this in an article in the GCW about six weeks ago.

Ten days ago we received an article (destined for publication last week) from Mr. Allen in which he suggested that Alaska wocld become more and more important in our defense. Since receiving this article, we note much in the daily press and from other commentators about this same thing. Allen is the smartest fellow who ever sat his foot in Mississippi.

But Tatum, of Cascilla, free state, got back on the list after an absence of one week. Welcome.

Alderman Jl mMoss has been marked up for another year. There was never a more conscientious man than Jim.

Let's go to Tokyo.

We note from the TRI-WEEKLY PICKETT, published in Grenada in 1864, that its subscription price was $3.00 per MONTH. That was, of course, in war time. Therefore, we find some other justification for raising our rates from $1.50 for local subscribers to $2.00; and from $2.00 to $2.50 for outside subscribers.

We wish, while we are commending, to commend the city fathers for eliminating street taxes.

Americans EVERYWHERE CHOOSE TRI-STATE for CONVENIENCE and ECONOMY

TODAY, each and every American is exerting his "all-out" effort to do his part toward winning a victory for America and for the democratic, free way of living. Working at ordnance plants, aircraft factories, etc., necessarily located at remote points has placed a terrific burden on all transportation facilities. Tri-State is serving 18 such defense plants and camps throughout the nine states which it serves. Yet Tri-State has continued to maintain its regular and convenient schedules as in the past. Big, deluxe buses are waiting to take you on your way . . . with convenient connections for all points in America.

DUBOIS-BAILEY

Of interest to many friends throughout this section of the state is the wedding of Mrs. Earle W. Bailey of this city to Captain Jesse Bartlett Dubois, of West Point, Miss., and Savannah, Ga. The vows were said in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Robinson, Friday afternoon at 6 o'clock, in the presence of close friends of the couple, Rev. C. A. Pharr, Presbyterian Minister officiating. An improvised altar was arranged before the beautiful mantle and fire place in the living room of this lovely new home. Plumasus and flat ferns formed the background for two stately baskets filled with picardy gladioli and ferns. Golden hued jonquils interspersed this lovely arrangement and white tapers in branched candelabra cast a soft glow over the nuptial scene. As a very lovely accompaniment to the living room decorations was an exquisite floral center piece placed on the dining table, of yellow daisies, accasia and tulips, flanked by lighted white tapers Ann Robinson and Marianna Bailey lighted the candles.

The bride entered the room with her young son, Earle Bailey, Jr. Her daughter, Mrs. Robert Murphey wa matron of honor. Mrs. Murphey wore a suit of soft tone brown wool with a corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. Duce Clark, of Calhoon City, presided at the piano, playing two selections. Mr. E. C. Hayward, Jr., served the groom as best man.

The bride wore a chic costume suit of horizon blue with luggage tan accessories. Her corsage was of talisman roses tied with gold ribbon. She is a woman of ability and charm, active in church and club work in Grenada. Mrs. Dubois was Ella B. Dyess, member of a prominent Arkansas family.

Captain Dubois attended school at The Citadel, Charleston, S. C. Received his B. S. degree in 1932. He is now a captain in the Resere Corps and is with C. as Hotel Commissioner.

Captain and Mrs. Dubois returned to Grenada early this week after a short stay in Memphis.

CHOIR HONORS MRS. PRICHARD

Mrs. Prichard, nee Miss Mabel Walker, was honered on Friday night, February 13, by the choir of he First Baptist Church. This event occurred in one of the class rooms and Mrs. A. N. Rayburn, president of the choir members group, assisted by Mrs. Orman Kimbrough, were official hostesses. The Valentine motif was carried out in the dainty refreshments. The bride was presented a handsome silver vase as a wedding gift.

Friends of Mr. Frank Anderson will learn with regret that he became ill while on duty Tuesday and is now confined to his bed at home.

Mrs. George Grant left Monday for Excellsior Springs, Mo., to visit in the home of her children, Rev. and Mrs. Pat Easterling. She went especially to see her new granddaughter, Marilyn Holmes Easterling, born Thursday, February 5th.

Miss Betty Shields, of Tupelo, spent the week-end here with her mother, Mrs. Shields, and sister, Mrs. Charles Liles and family.

It is with regret that we hear of Dr. Cecil Smith and his fine family leaving Grenada. They plan to make their home in Jackson after March 1st.

Rev. and Mrs. Pharr and Mrs. H. D. Lane, Sr., spent Tuesday in Memphis. They spent part of the day with Mrs. Pharr's niece, Mrs. Ed Martin at Whitehaven.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB

On Tuesday afternoon of this week the lovely home of Mrs. T. B. Revell was the scene of a most interesting meeting of the Twentieth Century Club. Mrs. E. B. Provine was co-hostess. For this occasion, the reception rooms were aglow with arrangements of cut and potted plant blossoms. In the living room a large azalia plant, with its masses of pink blossoms was placed before a handsome mirror, and an occasional table held exquisite red, white and blue carnations arranged in a tall cut glass vase. From her own garden, Mrs. Revell had lovely iris and fragrant white hycients. The adjoining dining room, where chairs were also arranged for guests, was lovely indeed in the patriotic influenced decorations. Tiny flags surrounded white hycients, another lovely azalia plant was flanked by red, white and blue tapers, and additional small flags were in evidence about the room. The lovely refreshment plate and napery reflected the George Washington motif with the national colors much in evidence.

The President, Mrs. J. K. Avent, presided and the two book reoprts were given by Miss Owen and Mrs. Workman. "Isolated America" written by Buell was presented most comprehensively by Miss Owen, and "American White Paper" by Alsop and Kintner, was given most interestingly by Mrs. Workman.

At the close of the program the hostesses served a beautiful plate with date loaf with whipped cream, salted nuts, a square of white cake and tea with lemon. The tiny American flag and a novelty tea cake shaped as a Washington axe decorated the plate.

The extra guests were Mesdames C. C. Provine, Hodgkins, Irvin Johnson, and Miss Mary Hall.

P. T. A. MEETS

The P. T. A. met Thursday, February 12, 2:0 p. m. at the High School auditorium. Mrs. Odean Gillis explained most interestingly "How Home Makers can Face and Meet Problems of 1942."

Mrs. Roberts prayed God's guidance for the parents and teachers in training the youth of our country and His blessings on those serving it.

Mrs. R. M. Smith's name was voted on to be sent to the Memorial Service to be remembered as a recent member and past president of the P. T. A., who passed away in the year of 1941.

Grades 2, 6, 8 and 9 won the attendance prizes for the month of January.

In talking of what the Home-Maker can do to make the most of the emergency brought about by this war, Mrs. Gillis said, "She must learn to use substitutes and keep the home life normal." There will be good substitutes for the products we are forced to do without, and she must not buy the products we need to win this war. The speaker emphasized the fact that there will be more home life, and every effort should be used to make it more pleasant.

Someone made the statement that 50 percent of winning this war depends on the American home, and many Home-Makers ask, "What can I do to help win this war" Mrs. Gillis said one thing she should do is to learn to meet rising costs and still serve nutritious meals. Selecting food is a big job, and the Home-Maker must buy wisely and consere wherever possible. She should plan her meals a week in advance and know what a well-balanced meal consist of. The Home-Maker should know how to cook economically and for health. It is better to buy personally—especially meats—since many cheaper cuts can be cooked as tender and with as much nutritional value as more expensive cuts.

Secretary of Agriculture said, "Food will win the war and right the peace." Mrs. Gillis asked that all Home Makers cooperate in doing their part.

February 17 is Founder's Day ir the 45th anniversary if the P. T. A. Mrs. E. L. Morrow gave all an opportunity ti cintribute ti a Founder's Day offering.

Tea was served by Mesdames McKnight and Parham.

The children of Mr. Claude Hall hae been at his bedside since Sunday when he suffered another slight stroke. Those here from out of town, include Mrs. Frank Morehead, of Carrollton, and Mrs. Lynn Parker, of Tupelo. Ms. B. B. Baker another daughter, resides in the home.

Mrs. R. E. Hall isited for seeral days this week in Memphis.

MISS MABEL WALKER BECOMES BRIDE OF R. L. PRITCHARD

Interest today centers in the announcement of the wedding of Miss Mabel Walker of this city, to R. L. Pritchard of Monroe. The ceremony was performed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Morgan Friday morning, February 6, at 10 o'clock, with Dr. W. E. B. Lockridge speaking the impressive ceremony, in the presence of close friends and the immediate families.

The vows were spoken before an improised altar of potted ferns and banked baskets of white gladiola and carnations. Burning on either side of the altar were white candles in branched candelebra.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Mr. R. B. Tromater, was lovely in an original model of horizon blue. Her corsage was of talesman roses.

Mrs. Emerson Morgan was the bride's only attendant. She wore a coco brown suit with brown accessories. Her corsage was of yellow accasia.

Mr. A. C. McMeans, served the groom as best man.

Mrs. Pritchard is a member of the Grenada, Miss., teaching faculty, a position she has held for a number of years. She is a graduate of Louisiana Tech, and has attended the Music Conservatory in Cincinnati.

A reception was held, after which the couple left on a wedding trip to Witchia alls, Tex.

Invited guests included Mrs. John Breard, Mr. Ham Breard, Mr. G. Humphrey, Mr. P. E. Thomas, Mr. A. C. McMeans, of Monroe, Mrs. Lorraine Peters, of Shreveport, Miss Evelyn Walker, of Orange, Texas, Mrs. J. W. Thomas, Mrs. A. C. Lazarus, Mrs. W. T. Walker, Mrs. J. E. Van Hook, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Tromater, and Mr. and Mrs. Morgan.

After March 1st Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard will be at home to their friends in Monroe.

The above account of the marriage of Miss Mabel Walker and Mr. R. L. Pritchard, of Monroe, La., was from the Ruston, La. paper.

The bride is a charming young lady with many friends in Grenada, her home for the past several years.

A member of the faculty, primary department, of Grenada Schools, also assistant organist at the First Baptist Church, Mrs. Pritchard is a most talented member of the MacDowell Music Club of Grenada. She has asked to be relieved of her duties as teacher and plans to leave soon for her new home.

CIRCLE MEETINGS

Mrs. Alfred Bryant, of Coffeeville, was a Grenada visitor on Tuesday.

Mrs. Mollie McLeod, of Oxford, spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Garner.

Mrs. Cowles Horton returned home on No. 4 Tuesday afternoon from Jackson, Miss., after a delightful visit there as guest of her daughter, Mrs. George MacMurray and Ms. Dawson. As Mrs. Winter's guest, Mrs. Horton attended a beautiful luncheon given by the Matrons Luncheon Club of Jackson.

Sweet little Kenna Horton, daughter of Mr. Robeinson Horton, of Memphis, is the guest of her grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Cowles Horton.

Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

Our good customers certainly did not let any grass grow under the feet of Horn and Greenfield last week-end. Keep the grass down this week-end!!

We wish to commend the board of supervisors for ordering a new registration of the voters of Grenada county. Nobody knows better what a mess the books are in than I, who am an election commissioner, do. Proper announcement will be made in plenty of time as to when and where to register. The regulations will, of course, be in charge of our efficient Circuit Clerk, Charlie Worsham.

I still say that more people are scheming to get some of the defense money than are trying to help win the war.

Mayor Sharp went to preaching Sunday.

MRS. W. H. SAUNDERS HOSTESS TO CLUB

The regular meeting of the Riverdale Club was held in the home of Mrs. Bill Saunders. Mrs. Saunders talked to us about the educational problem, the needs of 1942. She urged us to learn to plan our meals ahead and to take special care of all electric appliances.

Mrs. Hayward added her view of the destiny of America if we don't comply with the rules of preparedness. Mrs. King spoke about eggs, saying we have an egg average of 65 percent and we must increase 10 percent. We must raise more poultry.

Mrs. Love advised how and when to give Cod Liver oil to hens.

Mrs. Neely, our demonstration agent took over. She talked about our nutrition program. She told of 45 million needy families in the needy class. How the boys being called to service are suffering from malnutrition. Vitamins are vital to each person's diet Mrs. Rankin, the recreational leader taught us a new game called alentine which proved most enjoyable. Mrs. Talbert found the most hearts.

Mrs. Rankin read a sketch on the danger of a zipper much to everyone's amusement.

Mrs. Saunders invited us into her dining room which was beautifully decorated with candles and pot flowers. The table was covered with a lovely white lace cloth and dainty party refreshments were placed along the length of the table to be served buffet style.

Mrs. Love poured coffee and Mrs. Boteler poured tea.

Mrs. Saunders assisted her guests serve their plates.

NANCY REN INMAN

This little lady, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Inman, of Grenada, celebrates her first birthday on Saturday, February 21, 1942.

MRS. PRICHARD HONORED

On Friday afternoon last, at two thirty, Mrs. Prichard, nee Miss Mabel Walker, was honored by Mrs. Fred White, P. T. A. class room mother for first grade, at a charmingly planned handkerchief shower staged in the music room at the school. Mrs. White was assisted by Mrs. Lamar. Miss Olivia Wilkins presided at the piano and as the bride entered the room, played the wedding march as she was escorted to a place of honor near an improvised altar arranged before a cathedral window. At this time Miss Wilkins accompanied little Joyce White as she sang "I Love You Truly, Teacher Dear."

A very lovely heart shaped box was then presented Mrs. Prichard with an original poem, written by Mrs. White, which read

"Though cupid spied our Valentine
And stole her heart away
We'll always love her just as much
And here's our heart to say,
May every other dream of yours come true
From day to day, bringing still more Happiness as you go along life's way"

The box, presented by sweet little Martha Glenn Wiley was filled with exquisite handkerchiefs.

The bride then was escorted to the lovely white and pink and green decorated wedding cake, which she cut and served to the many little friends present. Several of the teachers were included as guests at this lovely affair.

PRESBYTERIAN AUXILIARY

Members of the Presbyterian Auxiliary met in the homes of members Monday afternoon.

Circle No. 1 with Mrs. Will Hill as leader, met at the home of Mrs. John Martin. Fourteen members were present, Mrs. Salmon conducted the devotional and Mrs. C. V. McKell assisted by the circle members, presented the program.

This informative program was followed by a social hour. Mrs. Martin served dainty refreshments with hot tea.

Circle No. 3 members met at the home of Mrs. A. M. Carothers. Mrs. H. D. Lane is leader. The program leader, Mrs. Harry Adams, presented the Study based on "Our Stewardship and World Mission." She was assisted by Mesdames T. T. Yeager, Ben Townes and H. D. Lane. Mrs. Will Hayward was assisted in the devotional by Mesdames Finney, Talbert and Lane.

The hostess served delectable fruit punch and cookies during the social hour.

Miss Mary Elizabeth McNeill, hostess at Civilian Center, Greenville, will leave soon to resume her duties there after a stay here at home due to illness.

GORE SPRINGS H. D. CLUB MET

On February 12th the H. D. Club held its regular monthly meeting in the school auditorium with twenty-two members and eight visitors present. Meeting was called to order by singing two songs, followed by prayer. Roll was then called, each lady answering with the breed of chickens she had.

Meeting was then turned over to the following speakers, with Mr. Groce Carver, acting as chairman.

Mr. J. W. Willis was first to speak his subject was on the one variety of cotton, followed by Mr. Brown with a talk on the soil drainage district.

Mr. Groce Carver, who is president of the County Farm Bureau was next to speak. Last but not least, Mr. Stanley and Mr. Bean Blosson made their talks, as all know their subjects were on poultry, the marketing raising and and care of poultry and eggs. All present enjoyed these fine talks and hope they may have the privilege of meeting with the club again.

Meeting adjourned.

We had a grand Clean Up Week at the GCW Sunday and Monday—something badly needed. "Buddy," Jim Horn's secretary worked all day Sunday, while he and Mr. Greenfield worked all day Monday and, as a result of their labors, our place is fairly clean.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tharpe and son, Earl, Jr., spent the day with relatives in Big Creek.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to make public expression of our gratitude for the many kindnesses shown our late husband and father, Chester P. Irby, during his illness and at his death and burial and for the pretty flowers that were sent to our home. Our sincere thanks also go to Dr. Bob Clanton for his faithful services.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Chester Irby and Family.

FORECLOSURE NOTICE

Whereas, on July 26th, 1934, William Mc. Yeager (also known as W. M. Yeager) and wife, Sadie Bell Yeager executed a trust deed under the terms of which the hereinafter described land was conveyed to the trustee named therein to secure the payment to The Land Bank Commissioner of an indebtedness therein described, which trust deed is recorded in Land Book 72, Page 195, of the Mortgage Records of Grenada County, Mississippi; and

Whereas, the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation is the owner of said indebtedness and said trust deed securing same; and the undersigned was substituted as trustee in said trust deed by an instrument of record in Book 80, Page 469, of the records of said county; and

Whereas default has been made in the performance of the conditions of said trust deed, and the holder thereof has declared the entire indebtedness secured thereby due and has requested the undersigned to sell said lands as provided by said trust deed.

Therefore, the undersigned will, between eleven o'clock A. M. and four o'clock P. M. on March 13th, 1942, at the east door of the County Courthouse in Grenada, Mississippi ,offer for sale and sell at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash the following described land in the aforesaid County and State:

BIG EVENTS LIE AHEAD

War, Home Defense Preparations and the Meeting of the Mississippi Legislature will Make Big News for 1942

WAR—The second Great World War will likely reach its climax this year. Many Mississippi boys are active on the battle fronts. Many more will be called during the year. Reliable and accurate information regarding all phases of the war will be presented FIRST by the Clarion-Ledger, your favorite newspaper.

HOME DEFENSE—Every community in America is interested in preparations to defend our country from a ruthless enemy. State Guard units are being formed, soldiers stand guard over important industries, bridges, and training camps. Red Crosss workers are busy, farmers are trying to produce large crops of food to feed our soldiers and our Allies, the wheels of industry are humming to increase our output of war materials.

STATE LEGISLATURE MEETS—Important questions confront the Lawmakers. What shall we do with the surplus in the State Treasury? How may the State help in our war efforts What about our state hospitals? Shall High School pupils have free textbooks? Will taxes be increased or decreased?

With so many important things happening your favorite daily newspaper is more necessary than ever before. SUBSCRIBE NOW—

Congress opened a Pandora's box of ills when it passed the self-pensioning act. "Not me" is the chorus from the members of the lower house, even though it was passed without a record vote; and this indicates that there was so little opposition that a vote was not called.

Did we mention that Mr. Paul Phillips, Route 3, had renewed. If not, here is the mention; if we did, this will fill up 3 or 4 lines.

Much obliged to Farmer McElwrath for a mess of sausage and a mess of cracklings.

Much obliged to Farmerette Saunders for a mess of souce, or is it souse? The latter does sound right.

We think the American Legion made another good choice in electing William Wright as Commander. He enjoys good health: he is intelligent and energetic, also conscientious in the discharge of the many duties (more to come, likely) of his office.

Aint they sweet.

It is raining like the devil here Monday morning, but there is nothing I can do about.

A lady just now started up her car with a rush and roar, scraping about 300 miles of rubber from four tires, Oh, well, there is nothing that I can do about it. She will be walking soon, and will get rid of some of those fat hips.

We do not handle office supplies of any kind, such as typewriter ribbons, adding mahcine paper, yellow second sheets, carbon paper, etc. Our friendly competitor, W. E. Jackson, does handle this kind of stuff, and we frequently direct people to him for such articles. Very infrequently we find some printing job that is "over our head," and we direct the customer to Jackson also. This does not occur often, for we can handle 99 percent of the printing offered us.

They could not have selected a better man than Luther Harris of Oxberry to superintend the grubbing and grading work at the new airport. Luther can do more with a log than a monkey can with a peanut.

The signs multiply that the Grenada area will have an army camp, as well as a civilian pilot training school. At this writing, however, nobody can be sure of anything.

Sam Mims has been limping around with a sore toe, literally, not figuratively speaking.

With all the meetings scheduled, a person hardly has time to eat or sleep. Most meetings consist of a lot of hot air and are characterized by a diarhea of words and a constipation of accomplishments.

Our Genoa, Ohio (not Italy) subscriber, A. Rethy, receives the GCW another year as a Christmas present from Mrs. Jack Martin.

Sam Irby is another one who was quickly reinstated.

They need it!! Let's speed it!!

Sixty NEW subscribers since Christmas is not so bad a record.

Lt. J. W. Martin, of Uncle Sam's Air Corps, is another recent renewer.

Morris "Merchie" Isenberg is a darn good fellow.

Dr. Shelton, alias Bad Eye, announces his engagement and approaching marriage. He is tired of single life. The details of this important social event are unavailable.

Be Loyal to Old Glory.

We are happy to announce that Tom Ferguson of Route 1, is one of the sixty new subscribers since Christmas. We certainly are grateful that we bought that power-driven folding machine for we have so many subscribers that the hand method of folding, employed for over three years, would be irksome indeed now.

Monday was a busy day at the court house, the Holcomb school and the Gore Springs school where patriotic men and women, serving without pay, registered the patriotic men from 20 to 45.

After giving consideration to the matter I believe Sam Mims "has something" when he says that the people in Washington need to be stirred up more than the people at home, that the people at home are ready and are only awaiting intelligent and planned leadership—or that's about what Sam said.

Old Newspaper Reveals Death of Grenada Citizen

We are indebted to Mrs. W. H. Carter for the privilege of seeing a copy of THE TRI-WEEKLY REBEL PICKET, dated at Grenada on July 5, 1863, and edited by W. Ivie Westbrook. This paper is in excellent state of preservation in spite of the fact that it is 78 years old. Among other things in this paper is an obituary of Thomas G. Clark, uncle of Mrs. Clark and brother of the late "Doll" Clark, which is reproduced below:

OBITUARY

Was killed on the field of Spottsylvania, C. H., May 12th, 1864 Thomas G. Clark, of Captain N. R. Davis' Company, 48th Mississippi Volunteers. He was a native of Yalobusha County, Miss., and one of the first to yield the energies of his young manhood in the defense of his country's honor.

His last words, on partin with home and friends, were "I go to fight till my country is free, or be killed in her service."

And nobly indeed has he fulfilled his pledge on twenty hard fought battlefields. He was a brave man, a true soldier in the midst of every fiery trial and a sound patriot of the truest order.

He yielded his life to his country, and his memory to her surviving patriots. May the clods of the valley rest lightly o'er the brow of the early fallen, and his brave deeds lived forever beside those "Who sink to rest, with their country's honor blest."

Hitler

Hitler called the devil upon the telephone one day,
The girl at central listened to all they had to say.
Hello, she heard Hitler say, "Is Old Man Satan home?"
Just tell him its the Dictator who wants him on the home.

The devil said howdy and Hitler, how are you?
I'm running a hell here on earth, so tell me what to do.
What can I do, the devil said, dear old pal of mine?
It seems you don't need my help, you're doing mighty fine.

Yes, I was doing very good until a while ago,
When a man named Roosevelt wired me to go more slow.
He said to me, dear Hitler, we don't want to unkind,
But you have raised hell enough so you'd better change your mind.
I thought his lease lend bill was bluff and he would never get it through
But he put me on the spot when he showed me what he could do.
Now that's why I called you
For I know that you will tell me just what to do.
My dear Hitler there is not much left to tell,
For Uncle Sam will make it hotter than I can here in hell.
I've been a mean old devil, but not half as mean as you,
So the minute that you get here the job is yours to do.
I will be ready for your coming and I'll keep the fires all bright,
And I'll have your room all ready when Sam begins to fight.
For I can see your days are numbered, and there's nothing left to tell,
So hang up your phone, get your hat and meet me here in hell.

High School Students Now Eligible

H. S. students in Mississippi will be given an opportunity to participate in a vital part of the U. S. Navy training program by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox.

Under a new plan, 500,000 aircraft models - 10,000 models each of 50 different types of fighting planes - will be needed for training personnel in aircraft recognition, range estimation in gunnery practice and civilian defense training. The Navy soon will call on Mississippi students to build at least 5,000 of them.

The United States Office of Education, which will administer the program, will send letters outlining the plan to state superintendents within gthe next few days. The first set of working drawings will be in the hands of cooperating schools by Feb. 23.

The models will be made on a precise scale of 1 to 72 - one inch on the model represents 6 feet on the actual airplane. The same proportion holds true as to distance, a model seen at 35 feet is identical with the true airplane seen at just under half a mile. Studying the models through the standard ring sight used on aerial gun mounts becomes invaluable training for the cadet flier, teaching him not only type and identification, but range. Only three dimensional models can serve properly for all these functions.

After a review of every model submitted, students completing stated quantities of models, will receive certificates in recognition of the importance of the work. Approved models will be sent to aviation units ashore and afloat.

The Boy Scouts of America, the 4-H Clubs, the Air Youth of America, the Junior Birdmen, various Boys Clubs and other youth organizations throughout the state have pledged support.

MT. NEBO NEWS

(Intended for last week)

We have seen many Christmas days but this one was the soberest one ever, and courageous. Very few drunks, but what were, were deadners, and report is that next day's hangovers were hideous.

We here are very angry at the Japs but no less so, at those hellish labor racketeers, who have all but wrecked our national security. We need more Smiths and O'Daniels in Congress, is the talk here. There has been so much coming, going and moving that we can't ask for space to tell all.

We are making a gee haw pull to get our electric line completed from Mr. Isom Parker's in Calhoun County, to Hubert Clarke's in Grenada County distance of six miles. As we told you you we get no breaks and to cap off our many ills. They have took off this road, all buses and the Star Route pick up. We are martyrs to some cause but don't just know why we are punished so severely, and so far, we can wave the flag.

CATTLE RAISERS FACE PROBLEM

Danger Ahead if Beef Cattle Increase Continues.

By R. J. McKENNA
(Chairman, Montana USDA Defense Board.)

Dangers that face the livestock industry if cattle numbers continue to increase past a balance with normal feed supplies were pointed out by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard in a recent letter.

There is danger ahead for beef cattle producers if herds continue to increase, Wickard stated. This, together with the fact that abundant supplies of food are needed for national defense, indicates that increased marketings of beef cattle and calves in 1942 will benefit not only cattlemen but the National Defense program as well.

Secretary Wickard's statement pointed out to stockmen several things they could do to make their position more secure. He advised increased marketing of cows and heifers which, because of the good demand and price, would mean more money to pay off indebtedness and get set for what may come in the future. This present demand also offers stockmen an opportunity to improve their breeding herds by culling out and selling undesirable animals at a good price.

Keep livestock numbers in balance with normal feed supplies, he urged. Range conditions and feed supplies in the West have been unusually good this year. Drouth can cause a lot of loss if there is no feed reserve available.

In 1934, just before the disastrous drouth, there were 74,000,000 head of cattle in the United States and in another year, if the present rate of increase continues, there will be at least that many again.

Vitamins Important In Animal Breeding

The success with which farmers raise their pig, lamb, and calf crops to meet expanding national food needs may depend in a large part on the kind of rations they supply their breeding stock, says Earl H. Hostetler, professor of animal husbandry at North Carolina State college.

Rations well fortified with vitamins and minerals are required for normal reproduction, and vitamins A, E and C have received most attention in relation to reproduction.

Carotene, which is present in well-cured green hay, fresh green pasture, grass, well-made corn, grass and legume silage, and yellow varieties of carrots, squash, and sweet potatoes, is the principal source of vitamin A, highly essential in the reproduction of all farm animals.

However, Hostetler pointed out, carotene is rapidly destroyed in feeds, especially under conditions of poor storage, so precautions must be taken to provide adequate amounts particularly to pregnant animals.

As early as in 1922, the vitamin E factor was demonstrated to be necessary for reproduction of laboratory aniimals such as the rat, but the need for it in the diet of farm animals other than poultry is still questionable. Most good rations contain adequate amounts of this vitamin, and only in unusual cases is it likely that animals may be sterile because E is lacking.

Such feeds as wheat bran, shorts, linseed meal, hominy feed, white and yellow corn, cottonseed meal, and kafir are good sources of vitamin E, as are most of the common hay and pasture crops.

History in the News

The 'First' Bathtub

THIS year marks the 100th anniversary of what is probably the most famous bath in history. The interesting thing is that the bath was never taken, that Adam Thompson was the man who didn't take it and that he didn't take that famous bath in Cincinnati, Ohio, back in December, 1842, even though you can find plenty of printed "authorities" which solemnly assert that he did. Here's how it all came about:

Back in December, 1917, when Americans were as concerned about World War I as they are today about World War II, H. L. Mencken, later famous as the editor of the American Mercury, wrote a story which purported to be the history of the first bathtub in America. "My motive was simply to have some harmless fun in war days," says Mr. Mencken. "It never occurred to me that it would be taken seriously because it was packed full of absurdities." But apparently he didn't realize how gullible the public was.

H. L. Mencken

The story, which first appeared in the New York Evening Mail of December 28, 1917, stated that the first American bathtub was displayed by one Adam Thompson, "a wealthy cotton and grain dealer," to a group of his admiring friends in Cincinnati on December 10, 1842. It was at a party "for men only" and all of the guests took baths in the new contraption.

That party, according to Mencken, had an unexpected aftermath. The bathtub was denounced by physicians as a menace to public health and the Boston city fathers passed an ordinance prohibiting its use except upon medical advice. In Virginia a $30 tax was imposed upon the installation of each bathtub and Hartford, Conn., Wilmington, Del., and Providence, R. I., all charged extra rates for water in which to bathe in bathtubs.

The Philadelphia city council, he solemnly averred, tried to pass an ordinance prohibiting the use of bathtubs between November and May but the measure was defeated by two votes. However, adverse legislation couldn't stop the use of the "new invention" and during Millard Fillmore's administration as President he had a bathtub installed in the White House and thus became the first Chief Executive to take a bath there.

Millard Fillmore

Such were the "facts" which the public accepted in all seriousness. Eight or nine years later Mencken wrote an article which was syndicated to newspapers all over the United States. Reviewing the history of his hoax, he said:

"Pretty soon I began to encounter my preposterous 'facts' in the writings of other men. They began to be used by chiropractors and other such quacks as evidence of the stupidity of medical men. They began to be cited by medical men as proof of the progress of public hygiene. They got into learned journals. They were alluded to on the floor of congress. They crossed the ocean, and were discussed solemnly in England and on the Continent. Finally, I began to find them in standard works of reference."

In one of his books Mencken tells how the story was reprinted in the Boston Herald with a four-column head and a two-column cartoon labeled satirically "The American Public Will Swallow Anything." Says Mencken: "And then, three weeks later, in the same editorial section, but promoted to page one, the same Herald reprinted my 10-year-old fake—soberly and as a piece of news."

Since then the story has been reprinted countless times—some times for the purpose of debunking it but more often as an authentic item of "social history." Despite all of its author's efforts to debunk his own fantasy, it keeps bobbing up regularly and people keep repeating the yarn as though it were the truth. As a final touch of irony it has appeared at least twice in the newspaper with which Mencken's name is closely associated—the Baltimore Sun!

As a matter of fact, the bathtub has a much longer history than a mere 100 years. The cave men left behind them paintings which show that they made a kind of bathtub by conducting water from springs through hollow logs into rock basins in their caverns. The people of Babylon, Mesopotamia, Crete, Egypt and Greece all had ingenious water systems and practiced frequent bathing. The baths of ancient Romans were famous for their luxury and cleanliness. All of which proves that the "Inventor" Thompson was anticipated by many centuries.

Tenor Offered a Chance To Reach the Top Note

It was after the opera. The expensively dressed woman approached the broad-shouldered and faultlessly attired man.

"If I am not mistaken," she gushed, "I have the honor of speaking to the renowned tenor, have I not?"

The celebrated singer felt flattered and beamed upon her, and with a nod of his head, he asked, "Is there something I can do for you, madam?"

"I can't find my car," she answered pleasantly. "Would you be so kind as to call out 'Charlie' at the top of your voice? I am sure he will hear you!"

Benefits to Our Readers

THE PUBLIC nature of advertising benefits everyone it touches. It benefits the public by describing exactly the products that are offered. It benefits employees, because the advertiser must be more fair and just than the employer who has no obligation to the public. These benefits of advertising are quite apart from the obvious benefits which advertising confers—the lower prices, the higher quality, the better service that go with advertised goods and firms.

HOLLYWOOD may not see Katharine Hepburn working before its cameras again for some time; she left when she finished "Woman of the Year" with no plans for making more pictures, but with plenty for doing that new play; if it runs as long as "Philadelphia Story" did she won't be ready for pictures again for more than two years.

Incidentally, Spencer Tracy—who also wants to do a play, if he can find the right one—had his hair cut for that new Hepburn picture, the first time he's done that since 1935, when he had a haircut for "Murder Man," which he made with Myrna Loy; think back and you'll remember that he's been doing "unshaven and unshorn" roles, a long string of them.

Case investigators on the air's "Are You a Missing Heir" program travel thousands of miles and spend hundreds of dollars in search of those heirs — so imagine their surprise when a legatee turned up practically under their noses; she's Agatha Friederick, and is a script-writer for the agency handling the Heirs program.

We know only that "the studio has made some concessions" in that difference of opinion between Deanna Durbin and Universal that's kept her off the screen all this time. Last October it was reported that she was demanding the right to choose her vehicles and approve her leading men and directors—when a star takes things into her own hands that way she's usually on the skids that lead to oblivion. Now she's set to make pictures again. Her husband, Vaughn Paul, will not change his mind about his resignation as a Universal producer.

John Payne replaces Victor Mature in 20th Century Fox's "White Collar Girl," in which he plays opposite Betty Grable. The picture is scheduled to get under way soon, with John Brahm directing.

It seems to be children's day at the Columbia studios. Baby Davy James, the infant Marlene Dietrich didn't drop in "The Lady Is Willing," has a new contract with options that cover a total of 21 years; now a year old, he's known professionally as "Wonder Baby Corey," his name in that picture. And 15-day-old Norma Jean Wayne is working in "Blondie's Blessed Event."

That bartender whom you'll see with Richard Arlen and Arline Judge in "Wildcat" once had his day as a famous man. He is Tom Kennedy, and once upon a time he fought Jack Johnson for the world's heavyweight championship.

Speaking of war pictures—Paramount bought a story called "Channel Port" way back last April, and now is going to do something about it. It will be filmed in England, and executives are hoping to get Laurence Olivier or David Niven for the lead. It's a Commando story; the hero's a long-distance swimmer, who swims the channel from France to England with important information.

Columbia grabbed the title, "The Commandos," first, however, their story deals with an American boy who becomes one of that daring band, and a girl in Norway who heads an underground movement against the invaders—one more "boy meets girl" plot, in a new setting.

"Bedtime Story" has a parallel in real life, Helen Hayes' announcement that she would retire for two years was contradicted by her husband, Charles MacArthur who has a new play for her. Same plot as the picture!

ODDS AND ENDS—Band bookers are optimistic, despite the war—Sammy Kaye, for example, has been booked through January, 1943 A pre-view audience liked Donna Reed so much in "The Courtship of Andy Hardy" that the picture was given a new ending, a happy one for her . . In Universal's "Wake Up and Dream" band-leader Woody Herman not only makes his film bow but dances a bit for the customers . . Joan Crawford's salary for the role that was to have been Carole Lombard's in "He Kissed the Bride"—$112,500—will all go to charitable organizations "Sullivan's Travels" is not only very funny, it has a message as well.

Rayon Fabrics Make Lounging Apparel to Fit Modest Budget

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WE'RE all so busy these days, we appreciate more than ever the few precious hours when we can relax. Smart, flattering clothes for stay-at-home moments add immeasurably to the enjoyment of playing at being a lady of leisure. Thanks to the many fine rayon fabrics now available, there is luxurious lounging wear this season within the reach of every woman's clothes budget.

Unless you have explored the possibilities of dramatic at-home costumes, you will have no idea what they can do for your looks and your morale. Whether you're a busy wife and mother, or a tailored career woman, or a defense worker who has worn a uniform or practical, functional clothes, a graceful lounging costume will transform you into a clinging vine in the twinkling of an eye. For informal entertaining, for instance, such formal fabrics as crush-resistant rayon velvet, soft rayon satin, and svelte rayon jersey are draped and molded into gracious hostess gowns and strikingly trousered. Bejeweled or unadorned, dramatic or appealing, these lovely styles reflect the trend towards luxurious effects.

For a quiet evening at home, or a quiet morning or afternoon, there are enchanting styles in house coats, lounging robes, and negligees that are not only comfortable but look as well in the dining room as they do in the boudoir. Rayon jersey and velvet reappear in these fashions, as do rustling rayon taffetas, smooth rayon crepes and smart spun rayons in novelty weaves. Wrap-around coat types are popular for the girl who likes her housecoat to do double duty as a dressing gown. The shirt-waist or round-necked styles look like frocks but have long concealed or zippered closings and may be slipped into with the greatest of ease.

Any college girl who happens to be the possessor of a cozy quilted lounging coat of crisp rayon taffeta in a gay plaid like that pictured to the right in the above illustration will be the envy of her classmates as she flits about in the dormitory or cuddles up in a big "comfy" chair in her room. The tailored collar may be worn snugly closed on cool mornings and the wide skirt flares nicely from a slim sashed waistline.

For extra warmth there are adaptable breakfast coats and lounging robes in luscious rayon taffeta, moire or satin, cosily quilted and cut on flattering fitted and flared lines with nice tailored details. For luxurious lounging the quilted housecoat centered in the picture above uses soft rayon satin in a colorful floral print. A snug set-in waistband with double-breasted buttoning accents the full, flared skirt. In a more intimate mood, matching gown and negligee sets in pastels and white are exquisite in fine rayon crepe or satin with lavish lace trim.

With luxurious rayon fabrics providing exciting grandeur, glamour is the keynote for at-home fashions such as the handsome hostess gown shown to the left in the picture above. This distinctive and gracious gown combines two high-fashion notes in its dramatic use of suave rayon jersey for fluid molded styling, plus a glorification of the sweater jacket for informal evening wear. In striking Chinese red, the soft rayon jersey is swathed snugly about the bodice and draped in sleek folds for the full, full skirt. Long sweeping lines are complemented by full bishop sleeves caught tight at the wrist. Brilliant red stones set in gold gleam from every square of the matching knit wool bolero with its shoulder-accenting cap sleeves.

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

For Leisure

Of course you'll be wanting a "brunch" coat. It is a short-skirted version of the ever-popular housecoat. The versatile little brunch coat as shown above is designed to turn the most demure housewife into a beguiling glamour girl. In crisp, brightly plaided rayon taffeta the skirt is cut on dirndl lines, zips up the back, ties at the waist and is ready to make you look beautiful.

The Stocking Future? It Couldn't Be Brighter

Just because there is a lull in the silk supply and a possible shortage of nylon because of "priorities," there's no reason to worry about hosiery futures. The inflow of stocking fashions that make use of cotton, lisle and spun rayon meshes is most heartening. You will be wanting a pair of the new tweed rayons to wear with your spring suit. Lisles and cottons come in ribbed effects and in small checks. We will probably be wearing dainty white cotton hose this summer, too. The thinnest of thin navy sheers are smart with navy suits. And nylons in a lace weave are also scheduled for summer.

Bolero

Here's good news for bolero lovers. It looks as though the bolero is going to win out as a special favorite this spring. One of its newer uses is with all 'round pleated skirts. When it is worn with long-torso and slim princess dresses the bolero is very, very short.

Spring Tid-Bits

Pottery, shells and wooden blocks decorate the jewelry counters already laden with accessories for spring. There are pale beige shell necklaces and bracelets, shell brooches, wooden beads the color of sunlit sand, and some giddy wooden cylinders wrapped with cellophane.

Sequins

Colorful sequins add glamour to evening prints. A few dressy afternoon prints also reflect the sparkle of sequins. You'll love the new prints with huge realistic roses on black or navy grounds.

BASKETBALL

Tuesday night here in the local gym Charleston and Grenada played their first game of the season together. Up until the last minute GHS girls were leading by two points, then "presto," and the Charleston team "zoomed" a head and made two goals which won for them victory. The score was about 13 to 15.

The GHS boys also led the score until the last minute when the Charleston Cazers made a goal to tie the score. The GHS boys scored again and before Grenada could get down to her goal the whistle blew and ended the game.

On Thursday night Grenada basketball teams ventured over in Tallahatchie County to play Charleston again. The girls were defeated again by the Charleston lassies. The Grenada boys won their game, thereby getting revenge for Charlestons previous football and basketball victories. The last game of the season besides tournaments will be with Calhoun City.

G. H. S. DEBATERS

On Friday, February 13th, in the GHS auditorium, Lou Avent and Laverne Wilson, ably supported the affirmative side of the debate question against two Sardis negative speakers, while Ann Odom and Marguerite Stanley also very ably supported the negative side of the question against another two Sardis boys. The winner of the debate was to become district champion.

The outcome showed that Sardis led by a 4 to 2 decision. Just to show the Sardis boys that we're good sports, Mrs. Hathorn invited the Sardis team and their coach over to eat lunch with the four Grenada girls.

The only other debate scheduled is when Anne Duncan and Lucy Moss go to Sardis for a debate with Sardis' second team next week.

DIRT

Pauline Richardson and Buddie Avent are about the newest romance or courtship in the o'e GHS territory. Buddie was seen walking around about a quarter 'till one Saturday night with her. But don't let that cause a scandal because the show wasn't out 'till 20 'till one and they were at the show!

We want to offer our apologies to June Williams and Clarine Jobe. We said in in a past Bulldog something about Guy Robinson not being a ladies' man. It seems that we were miserably mistaken.

Rowe was with Lib Saturday night. After the show they were running up and down at a very high speed. When we asked an explanation, Lib said they were just looking for Rowe's car.

Jafes Elliott and Catherine Herring were riding bikes around town Sunday.

Frances Herring is bemoaning the fact that while she was not at home she received a long distance call from somewhere in the delta over Indianola way.

Jackie dated George the other night.

Hal, at the drug store, is going to let us in on a bit of choicy news within the near future. By the way, we saw him and Margaret Green flitting around the bright lights Friday night.

Here's hoping Betty Horn will soon be back to school. We surely have missed her.

Berta and Johnny are slowly recovering.

A certain Eddie Barnes from West Point, was out with a certain Nellie Joiner Sunday. From all descriptions we've heard he must be a superman.

And then there was a certain English IV-A class that held their noses when some "local-color" poems were read.

Bernice is still corresponding with a certain Belzoni boy.

LAST WEEK'S BULLDOG
RED CROSS PARTY

On Friday night, February 6, at Gore Springs High School, the community is holding a party for the benefit of the Red Cross.

There is to be an entertainment in the auditorium consisting of a talk by a Red Cross official, several short feature stunts, and ending with a real old-fashioned cake-walk. After the program, games such as Bingo, Shooting Hearts, etc., for which there will be a small charge, will be provided.

Everyone who is interested in helping a worthy organization give our soldiers those comforts, and necessities not provided by the government and who is interested in having a good time while helping is invited to the Red Cross Party.

FRIENDSHIP H. D. CLUB

At 2 o'clock on Monday, February 2, twelve members of the Friendship Home Demonstration Club with Mrs. Neely and two new members, Mesdames J. B. Strider and James Hankin, met with Mesdames Travis and Rudell Tribble, co-hostesses.

Roll was answered by "Worse Bargain I ever Made." Mrs. Henry Carpenter demonstrated two beautiful applique quilts. The value of vitamins in one's diet was well explained by Mrs. Neely. The chart she used showing the foods and vitamins obtained from various foods was very helpful.

Mrs. Neely suggested that instead of giving a "store bought" prize to winner of contest give a 10c Defense Stamp. This was voted unanimously. Another interesting suggestion made by Mrs. B. L. Taylor was that each member wear cotton dress or stockings, if not pay a fine of 10c, thus bringing in funds for the club.

We are growing in members and interest—many more of the old members get in line for the useful and helpful information brought to us by our Home Demonstration Agent.

Delicious Angelfood cake with coffee was served.

Effective immediately students in school or college who have reached the age of 17 and and have not yet had their 20th birthday may be enlisted in Class V-1, Naval Reserve, and upon their own request placed on inactive duty until completion of current scholastic year unless military situation necessitates Navy Department calling them to active duty beforehand. Schools and colleges will be encouraged to give extra physical training nd studies to young men in this catagory during the next four months as recommended by Bureau of Navigation. Commandants will not call any of these men to active duty until orders are issued by Bureau of Navigation.

The Naval Recruiting Station in the Post Office Building, Grenada, Mississippi, will gladly furnish any additional information to any men interested. The Naval Recruiting Station office hours are 8:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m. daily except Sunday, when they are 8:00 a. m. to 1:00 p. m.

All Naval Recruiting will continue on a strictly voluntary basis.

DIRT

We've promised Berta and Johnny we wouldn't make any dirty "cracks' about' their wreck. But we know they'll let us express our desire to let them have a speedy recovery.

It seems that Lynn Rose squires Margaret Green around at least once a week.

Bennie Moore, our Mr. Esquire, had special attention called to his pretty new shoes in Algebra the other day.

Jeanne Geeslin celebrated in a big way on her birthday last week by throwing a big party. Berta, Johnny, and Benton shared the "feed" with Jeanne as it was a dinner party.

Dot Talbert and Lou Cullen went to Columbus to look over a prospective five place to go to school next year.

Poor little "Peanuts" Cullen and Morrow.

Waffles, Waffles, and more waffles were eaten by Lou Avent, Cullen Billie Saunders, Mary Ida Odom, Anne Duncan, Dot Talbert, and C. Whitaker at Camie Lou's waffle supper Friday night. It has been rumored that several five pounds were gained. It all ended by every one playing cards.

Lou Avent was squired around town by gallant "galloping" Jay Gore.

Seen floating around Saturday night at the Community House Saturday dance were Polly Richardson and Bennie Moore, and Munford Rhett and Beebe.

STATEMENT FROM Congressman A. L. Ford

Congressman Ford states that he voted against the so-called pension bill for Members of Congress; that he has always voted against such legislation and always will. He further states that the measure is much misunderstood. The law requires anyone who participates to pay five percent of their salary each year. "This would cost me five hundred dollars each year and no benefits would accrue until I reached the age of sixty-two. It would be much cheaper for me to purchase insurance. I do not propose to accept the provisions of the bill and will vote to repeal the law at the first opportunity, Congressman Ford said."
